Clapway, a U.S. based online publication, is looking for talented, creative and quirky interns to write news articles about offbeat topics related to ecology, archaeology, science, space and technology. We are searching for skilled writers who can quickly adapt and grow with us. This is an unpaid, one-month internship, which will start immediately. School credit can be given. As an intern, you will be responsible for four news articles per day, four days a week (Monday -Thursday from 9am to 4pm). A full-time position may be offered at the termination of the internship, dependent on your performance.

To apply, please send us your resume, cover letter, writing samples and links to your social media accounts us. Whatever you can to help us get to know you! Please keep in mind, we will only take a look at an application if all the above requirements are fulfilled.

Although not absolutely required, applicants who have experience with the following will be preferred:

1. SEO Writing
2. Effective keyword usage
3. Wordpress

Otherwise, please be willing to. :)
