

Heathen folk (acoustic folk metal) (Washougal)

I'm looking for folks interested in playing heathen folk rock. And by that I mean folk that rocks, not folk with electric guitars. Maybe I should say acoustic folk metal? I'm looking to do original tunes, maybe kipe some traditional melodies, but we're not going to be playing "The Jolly Tinker" at some saint paddy's party. I mean honestly... How many renditions of "Rocky Road To Dublin" does the world need? Anyway... I'm looking for folks who are willing to participate in the writing process. As much as I'd love to, I don't play fiddle, I can't write your parts for you. It's all about the team work.

Goals for the band:

- 1.) Have fun
- 2.) Write some songs
- 3.) Record those songs
- 4.) Play wild shows
- 5.) Have more fun

Repeat as necessary.

I play guitar and plan on singing, although I would like everyone to sing to some extent. I want some mean harmonies. I also plan on playing some mandolin, bouzouki, and 12 string guitar.

Musicians I'd like to find (but don't expect to) can play:

- Fiddle
- Jaw Harp
- Tin whistle, low whistle, all whistles, wood flutes, recorder
- Bag pipes

hurdy gurdy

lyckelha

hammer dulcimer

mass gu

ventu

Also, I plan on singing in Old English, not to be confused with Shakespearean English, I mean Anglo-Saxon English, which is more closely related to German than modern English. Anyway

Also, I'm a night owl, and if you are too, feel free to text me or something late night. It'll just be chillin at work.

if you'd like an idea of what I'm going for follow the links

One last thing, and this should go without saying, but there are lots of idiots out there. I'm not a supporter of any sort of racial supremacy doctrines, so If that is your gig then piss.
