

Kai was picked up as a stray so we don't know too much background information on her. She has probably not been around a lot of other dogs, her social skills are not very good but she is getting better with practice. She is doing fine with other big male dogs but we wouldn't advise she be with small dogs at this point. We don't know how she is with small children but she did live with cats for a short while where she got along with one of them but not the other. She is house trained and crate trained. She is spayed, current with her shots, rabies shot and microchipped. She is ready for her new home and her new family.
