As the title states, I'm a hard rock/metal lead guitarist looking to form an original band. I would prefer to find a percussionist first but by all means, if you're a bassist or vocalist, hit me up. I have transportation and all the gear I need including a full stack. However, I do not have a rehearsal space. I'm available every evening and am willing to commute down to the northern Denver area on a twice per week basis for rehearsal. I can definitely pitch in for a rehearsal space but a nice, dark, cool basement would be preferable.

I have enough material that, with a little collaboration could easily be a 45-minute set. A couple of the videos on my reverbnation page demonstrate my soloing. I intend to have guitar solos in most if not all songs.

I would prefer an age range of 25-35 and please have a passion for your craft. I would also ask that you respond with links that demonstrate your talent.

Thanks for reading.
