Hey and thanks for taking the time to read my ad here in Cincinnati! I recently graduated college, and I want to help you get your business started online.

If you're on this ad and you own a business, this might be a new idea to you. You might have wanted to build a website for awhile now, or maybe you're looking to fix a broken or crummy site. In any of those 3 situations - I want you to get value from this.

If you put time, effort, or cash into this project to develop a website, you need to get more out of it than what you put into it.

I think this is where I can excel above the competition, I can help you understand and explain what will actually help your business - and what things could be wasting your time to try to develop.. and that could actually change depending on the type of business you own!

The $9.99 per month price in the title is the firm price that I charge. There are no hidden fees, and it takes care of everything you need to get this site up and running.

Please send me an email if you're interested in getting a website for your business.Taking your business online doesn't have to be that hard, I'd love to help you get online in a way that's great for you!
