Anyone loose their kitty cat?

I came home tonight and found a lovable kitty cat in my garage digging through my trash cans. I picked her up and brought it up and brought it inside because I live on a very dangerous street for outdoor pets.

The cat enjoyed a snack of liver and cream and is now sleeping, so if this is your lost kitty know that the kitty is safe and a little buzzed on catnip as it found the stash.

If this is your cat please contact me and describe the cat. I am not posting details because I am trying to be cautious and get this kitty home to its' owner. I would not want this cat to fall into the hands of one of the infamous CL animal flipper.
