These kittens were found in a wall and have been fostered for the a week and a half two are eating pate style cat food but one is struggling and still refuses anything but the pet bottle. The foster family can no longer Take care of them but wish for them to go to someone who can. Two are probably able to be adopted by forever families but one needs to be bottle fed still. We believe they are very close to 6weeks old. Please consider that they are babies and are not yet litter box.
