I have some very specific requirements for a watch band that are not currently being met on the open market. I would like to hire someone to make it for me. I have basic design and diagrams, and can provide 3D models and CAD files.

It's a single basic concept I would like iterated across a number of materials (leather, cloth, maybe metal?), clasp, and stitching style/ color / pattern.

I'm open to discussion on compensation. I'd like to start with the first most basic band, and if that meets my standards, move on from there. For the first band, I'm happy to cover materials and a reasonable amount of money for your time. After that, we can discuss further monetary compensation.

EDIT: All emails offering CAD or design services will either be ignored, or snarkily responded to. I have the design down, I dont need any help on that front. All I need at this point is a skilled leather.
