Please don't be offended by this post:

I am truly an animal lover and only want to help by sharing something I have found out through facilities and private people helping animals: I want to ask anyone who has a pet to re-home that they charge a rehoming fee instead of free to good home.

Free to good home ads offer many terrible people the opportunity to take your pet and use it for things such as "Bait" for dog fighting, given away to experimental places.

By charging a small re-homing fee, most people will not pay good money to hurt or let someone else have what they.
