Give me a chance I am not brand new i would love a home with someone like you I may have been around a bit Received by many a blow and by many a kick

Starved and neglected most of my days Yet im forgiving anyways But now's my chance to start anew A home with love that i never knew

So before a kitten you're tempted to pick Give me a look, but not too quick Look at the character in my face And my body, still full of grace

Just think of me, day after day
