My girl, had pups a while back and we still have one little girl who has yet to find a home! I've asked friends and family, and acquaintances, but no luck! We really cannot keep her for she needs way more attention and time than what we can give at the moment, especially with school coming up! (And when you have 2 cats and 3 more dogs..not to mention the kids)She needs a perfect home! She's a sweet hyper little thing, with a yellow coat, she has a partial blue eye, pink nose and perky ears. She is 13 weeks old, and is still on her shots. I had an emergency that lead out of country, missing her shots, thus we had to start again...

She's pretty social with my other dogs, and the cats, and kids but again I repeat, she is very hyper, and loves to chew and can get carried away and jump. Not completely house broken, the pads have been a challenge for her, she wants nothing more than to go outside with the big dogs, but she cannot until she gets all her shots, but she is very quick to pick up to on new thinks with motivation.(Treats treats treats.) she's very smart, and behaved at the vet, and is a big eater! She's a talker too!

As you can probably see, I really just want to find her a good home that will take care of her and love her and maybe spoil her because she's a doll.

There is a rehome it fee, asking 350, but I am willing to negotiate. Thank!
