Are you experiencing post-divorce problems with child support or parenting time?

Never married and just need some stability for you and your child/children? Concerned about the withholding of parenting time or child support?

Mediation offers greater:

1. SPEED - Parents can set their own schedule for resolving issues without having to wait months for the next court date or for a time when two lawyers and a judge can coordinate their calendars to address issues that affect you and your children now.
2. CONFIDENTIALITY - Mediation is privileged and confidential. Information revealed during mediation may not be disclosed outside mediation without mutual consent of both parties.
3. PERSONAL ATTENTION - You are never just a number. One size does NOT fit all.
4. CONTROL - YOU remain in control. During litigation, while parties may petition a Judge or Commissioner for a particular action, they have ultimate control of the future for you and your children. When you mediate, you can create the perfect plan for you and your children.
5. CONFLICT - Mediation protects you and your children from current and future conflict as you reach agreement together.
6. CONFIDENTIALITY - Mediation is privileged and confidential. Communication / information disclosed during mediation may not be revealed without the consent of both parties.
7. STABILITY - Construct an agreement and communication style to provide real structure for you and your children so that you can finally have a chance to move forward with your life.
8. THRIFT - No retainer required. Costs are a fraction of litigation and payment may be arranged to work for you and your situation.
