This is a solid wood frame dining room table, which has a built-in folding sleeve (it stores nicely right underneath the table when not in use) The table is 29 inches tall and 45.25 inches wide. When compacted it is 45.25 inches in length and seats four, when fully expanded it is 65 inches long and could seat 6-8 people. The table is IKEA, the chairs are not the original matching chairs, but they are actually better (more sturdy) than those and they match the table quite nicely.

I'd like $80 for just the table, $15 for each chair or $130 for table + all four chairs.

The surface of the table does show some scuff marks and/or minor signs of wear, which you can see most clearly in picture #2 and I have taken into consideration in setting my price points. (even for IKEA, this full set would go for about $200-$300 retail easy) This being all said I've priced these a lot lower than I think they are truly worth (even via Craigslist) only b/c I'm moving at the end of August & I really need these items gone by then. This is the only reason I'm not holding out for closer to about $175-$200 for everything.

Local pick up in Capital Hill only.

Thanks.
