I'd like to share this opportunity with everyone, as I've found a lot of work from home scams to be very frustrating and now that I've found a legitimate opportunity, I feel I need to share it. Here's the link, but please read more below or send me an email for more info if you're cautious about clicking links:

See pics for proof of payment.

You may have already heard of Swagbucks; this is an online rewards site where you can earn gift cards or spare cash. No, you will not get rich from this site and it does not come close to a full income. However, I spend about an hour a day on the site and make about $100 a month. You can view ads (both on computer or your smart phone), complete surveys, etc. You can also get credits for shopping online, which generates a lot of the points I earn (I buy things like dog food online because it's cheaper than the store, and I get a few cents back for every dollar I spend).

I have used my earnings to get free gift cards in the past, but typically I just convert my earnings to paypal cash. If you'd like to see a screenshot of my past earnings and the rewards I've ordered, please send me an email and I can provide you the info.

Why am I taking the time to post this? Well, by using my link above to register, I get some referral credits :) Hope this helps you, just as it has helped me generate a few extra bucks.
