Do you dread date night because of the hassle of booking a babysitter? Do you find yourself playing texting roulette to try to confirm one of your sitters? Are you always asking friends for babysitter recommendations? And at the end of the night do you find yourself doing last-minute math to try to figure out how much you owe (if you can remember your sitter's rate and stopped by the drug store to break a $20)?

If so, you're in luck. Sitter is launching in Wyoming and promises to dramatically simplify the babysitting experience. Simply sign up, add the sitters you already use and trust, and when you need a sitter the app will send them all a request. The first one to respond gets the job. Easy peasy. Need a new sitter? Connect with your friends to access their list of trusted babysitters. No more sorting through thousands of random strangers on babysitting match-making sites.

At the end of the night the app's built-in timer will tell you exactly how much you owe your sitter. Feel free to modify it, add a tip or reimburse for the pizza, and pay your sitter securely with a credit card. The money gets deposited into their banking or venmo account. Simple. No math, no fumbling for a checkbook or stopping at the ATM.

With Sitter, going out is guilt- and hassle-free. Learn more at <http://sitter>
