Tired of lack luster clones from the dispensary trying to lure you back for more eighths?

Want proven genetics that actually perform as described?

Send me a message today and place an order, I can solve your propagation issues and provide you with clean, healthy, ready to grow clones on a regular basis, proven strains that will be solid additions to your garden. I only sell strains that I have grown which met with my standards of quality and production, I'm the Smurph, and i'm here to make your garden the best it can be.

How it works: Let me know how many clones you want and of what strains, make a deposit of 50% of the final cost of the clones and pick up your receipt, when the clones are ready (approximately 2-4 weeks, depending on strain), pay the remaining 50% and pick up your clones. A $15 donation is required for each single clone, $10 each for groups of 10-20, and $8 each for groups of 25 or more. Pickup only on groups of less than 10 clones. Larger plants that have already been transplanted into half gallon pots are $25 each.

Clones are typically delivered in a plain Root Riot cube after they have been rooted, and then allowed to grow without a humidity dome for at least 7 days. This means they are ready to be placed easily into any pot, large rockwool cube, or other medium. Typically their size is between 3" and 6", larger plants are typically at least 10" tall. All my strains are recommended for a 9 week flowering time, 8 of feed and 1 of flush.

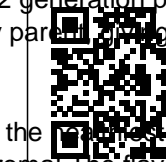

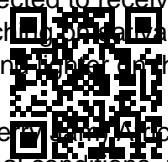

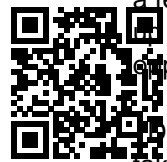

Standard Strains:

Smurphberry Jam (Northern Lights x Blueberry SBX2) -- I created this strain, starting with Dr. Atomic's Northern Lights x Blueberry as a base, through 2 generations and a few hundred plants. Ideal females were selected to receive special pollen and the resulting SBX2 generation produced the elite cutting I now grow. The backcross seed in this strain is really slow to germinate, touching it with a gentle touch away in the early part of the grow cycle. The plants are a plant that performs more like a Dream. The buds are opposite and very much heart shaped. The body and shape of the herb is very dense and very much like a body of a body.

Urban Smurph (Urban Lights x Smurphberry Jam) -- Another successful cross to Smurphberry Jam, this time featuring the genetics of Amsterdam's own Urban. The buds are taking hold on the plant, even in less than ideal conditions, perhaps scared away by the intense aroma! The flavor is all fruit up front, and all fuel on the back end, like bright Hawaiian Punch spiked with tequila. The cross to Smurphberry Jam enhances the yields and ease of growth.

Lavender Smurph (Soma x Lavender x Smurphberry Jam) -- Another successful cross to Smurphberry Jam, this time featuring the genetics of Amsterdam's own Soma. The floral bouquet of the Lavender dominates entirely. While the Smurphberry Jam does its usual work of tightening buds, enhancing yields, and increasing potency.

Smurph OG (Laoe OG x San Fernando Valley OG) -- By popular demand, Smurph's very own OG variant. I took a lovely San Fernando Valley OG cut, and used pollen from that line to seed a Tahoe OG, the result is an extremely fragrant and hearty OG cut. The intense flavoring of the SFV has enhanced the sometimes subtle exotic spice smell of the Tahoe, and the bulky flower structure of the Tahoe has solidified the normally heady but lower yielding SFV.

Smurph Fuel (Smurphberry Jam x East Coast Sour Diesel) -- I wanted to see what would happen if I combined Smurphberry Jam with East Coast Sour Diesel, and this was the amazing result. The normally looser bud structure of the Diesel is hardened by the indica dominant genetics of the Jam, while at the same time, the normally funky and hashy aroma of Smurphberry is replaced by the intense aroma of diesel. An unexpected benefit of the cross is its tendency to purple out during cooler temperatures, an uncommon quality in a diesel flavored variety.

East Coast Sour Diesel -- The true original "Sour Diesel", huge hype surrounds this strain, and once upon a time clone trays filled with it were going for five to ten thousand dollars. Sativa through and through, with the slightly sweet and lemony bouquet that marks it as true ECSD instead of a more generically fuel scented knockoff.

Blue Dream (Blueberry x Haze) -- An elite clone that originated from Cali Connections seed stock, our Blue Dream is one of the best available. Dense despite its heritage, always flavorful, and absolutely covered in trichomes, this cut is also extremely hardy, hardly ever showing symptoms of mold or disease.

Grand Daddy Purple -- This cut of ours originated in the Bay Area of California, where purple strains are in high demand, this isn't your every day generically fruity "purps", this is a true old school purple cutting, whose bouquet has notes of Anise, Licorice, and Coffee after a long time in the jar, with tight flowers that grow to deliciously dense perfection well under the 9 week mark.

Princess Pineapple (Pineapple x Cinderella 99) -- This fruity offering was an attempt to give more impressive yields to the traditionally fluffy but delicious Cinderella99, while maintaining the Pineapple profile, over time in the jar they take on the smell of the skin of a fresh pineapple.

Dynamite (Grapefruit x Hawaiian Sativa) -- This cross resulted in strange combinations of the parent genes, resulting in a very pleasing product, slower growth and heavy effects that harkens to an indica, with sativa leaf and bud structure. The bouquet is all fruit, taking the already pleasant Hawaiian Sativa profile (the way Capri Sun smells when warm) and enhancing it with the intensity of the Grapefruit.

Tahoe Alien (Tahoe OG x Alien OG) -- Quite pungent and unique, this spicy, hashy, and potent variety combines the highly fragrant and trichome rich qualities of Alien OG and combines it with the delicious and unique flavor profile of the Tahoe OG. Yields are medium but of outstanding quality, the concentrates made from this strain usually taste exactly how the flowers smell.

Elite Strains

Kong -- (White Russian x Bubblegum, with other components) An elite cutting capable of 2+ lbs of production per 1000w light, and 25% or higher yields when made into wax or shatter. This cut is renowned by concentrate makers and growers alike, and has won multiple awards. The aroma has an intense diesel hit that makes it a winner in both flower and concentrate form. These are $200 each, non-negotiable.

Gorilla Glue #4 (Sour Dubb x Chem Sis x Chocolate Diesel) -- An amazing example of what can happen when several strong lines come together, this extremely potent cut is capable of producing sticky, sweet, easy to trim buds that regularly test above 25%, and has quickly become a staple among serious growers. Most describe the aroma as a combination between sour and chem, with hints of the funk that is typical of skunks or hashplants. These are $100 each, non-negotiable.
