I am looking for an iPhone/Android app development professional to bring a good looking and obvious user interface to our functioning iPhone app. Right now, it's a set of bland white screens created by developers, but we need someone to make it look good and tells us how to lay it out so that it's obvious to users how they will use it.

The app is for people to use while in a grocery store: scan a barcode of a product and see if this store's price is higher/lower than nearby competitors. And it can be used to display a person's shopping list.

The app is called Grocery Buddies. Before you contact me, go to www.pennywatchers.org and sign up for a free account on that system. It will give you an ID on Grocery Buddies, and let you use the app on your iPhone so that you can see what we're talking about. It's only a few screens, but I am looking for a fixed-fee estimate, so please know what you're talking about. If you're having trouble getting an ID, contact me, and I can help create one for you.

I expect a large number of automated responses from bots and people who didn't really read this. Please give me 1-2 days to sort through the.
