Paid Study: 1990-1991 Gulf War Veterans Wanted for Research Study to Improve Thinking and Memory

Are you a 1990-1991 Gulf War Veteran between the ages of 38-65 years?

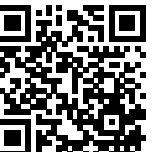

Are you experiencing problems with thinking, memory, or concentration?

You may be eligible for a paid research study investigating the use of painless, noninvasive Light Emitting Diode (LED) therapy to improve thinking and memory in 1990-1991 Gulf War Veterans.

This study includes neuropsychological testing, blood draws, and treatment visits. Treatment visits will be approximately twice a week for 16 weeks. Each treatment visit lasts approximately 45 minutes. Outpatient treatments take place at the VA Boston Healthcare System (150 South Huntington Ave., Boston 02130), Jamaica Plain campus.

Participants will be compensated up to $1120 for their time.

For more information call Megan at the VA Boston Healthcare System, Jamaica:
