I have my Canon Rebel XSi EOS camera with original box and battery plus and extra battery and charger. Great camera. Nothing wrong with it all original stuff in the box that came with it. I just upgraded my camera and do not need it. I am throwing in a new tripod I've never opened came with my new camera and I do not need it. I am throwing in a heavy duty carrying case and a bunch of filters and a couple lenses that I do not need and several little extras in the pictures. Also a little camera and charger that I do not need. I haven't used it in years. Just trying to down
