I have a gulf hammock rat snake that I bought from hoffers on their last day of business. She had mites when I got her, but I got rid of them. That was earlier this year. She is free of parasites.

I recently noticed she had a lump under her scales on her back and she stopped eating.

I want someone to take her that can take her to the vet to get the lump checked out, and continue trying to get her to eat. She does NOT come with a cage. I am just asking $10 to deter flippers/hoarders etc. so I know she will go to a good.
