South central Tennessee desperately needs a Craigslist site but they do not seem to listen in the Cities - Site forum unless there are multiple responses in agreement. I am asking anyone who is willing to go to my forum post and reply here...

In it and the followup post, I have detailed how Manchester is almost directly in-between Chattanooga, Nashville, and Huntsville AL. and is an 80+ mile one way trip to/from Manchester (and surrounding areas) to any of these cities.

Cookeville Tennessee, which lies directly between Nashville & Knoxville has its own site. However, using 2010 census data, I have shown that Manchester & surrounding areas has a population 207% larger than Cookeville & surrounding areas and covers about the same amount of land.

There are so few posts from Manchester & surrounding due to the distance. Most won't even bother creating a listing. If this area gets its own site, it will be a win-win for, not only Manchester, but Chattanooga, Nashville, & Huntsville as!
