I know I am not the only one who is tired of coming onto Craigslist and seeing all the same posts from the same people who turn out not to even be real anyway. Email just to get a response of being told to go to other bogus website that leads to nowhere, or calling/texting a number just to get no answer, and a response back a day later of again, bogus websites.. So I finally said eff it and created a group on the only website that IS free to contact people, and actually get to have a first look into their life instead of not knowing who you're talking to.. Or what. FACE BOOK. Yup, I searched high and low for a room/roommate group or even page and I didn't come up with anything. So, created my own. DENVER ROOMMATES. Over 4K MEMBERS who are all LEGIT. No scam/spam or perverts wanting to share their beds with you. I put a lot of work into making sure they stay away. A lot of people who are looking for a room, and looking to rent their place. So come check it out, and be sure to spread the word!!
