Hi,

My name is Michael, and I have been teaching music for over 35 years. I teach guitar, bass, ukulele and computer-related audio and MIDI and invite you to visit my web site at <http://fradellamusic.com> for more detailed information on my lessons. You can contact me through Craigslist or my website at <http://fradellamusic.com> to set up lessons or ask any questions you might have.

A few things to consider before making your decision on an instructor for you or your child:

- * Many of my students have gone on to become professional, steadily working musicians.
- * I have students who have attended, or are now preparing to attend, Berklee College of Music in Boston or other advanced music training facilities that I helped them prepare for.
- * Some of my letters of recommendation from present and past students and parents are on my Web site.
- * Lessons are customized to you or your child's aptitude and abilities.
- * My teaching methods and experience are more fully explained on my website <http://fradellamusic.com>

* I have also spent many more years performing music both as a solo guitarist and as a member of various types of bands from Rock to Jazz to Big Band and Country. I must recall that I was the lead guitarist for the lead guitar "ratters". I was also the planning and play person for music, I was a very valuable person in play in different groups and bands.

CHOOSING A TEACHER WISELY

Please choose a teacher wisely, even if you don't study with me. It saddens me to see promising students become disillusioned and disinterested in studying an instrument as a result of their first introduction to playing being with an out-of-work guitar player who has no experience teaching and is only out there looking for a few bucks until his/her band starts working. Unfortunately, this happens more often than not, so just be sure to ask questions -- good teachers encourage that and are happy to answer anything that makes you feel more relaxed about their teaching and experience.

Feel free to contact me through Craigslist or my Web site at <http://fradellamusic.com> and I will be glad to answer any questions or discuss your goals for you or your child.
