I have a Hunter ceiling fan (with light) that was removed from another room about a year ago. I want it installed in a room that currently only has a light fixture. We do not have the instructions. I know this is easy because I have watched my brother in law do it in every room of his house.

Please respond with your name, cell number and total price to do job as well as availability to do the job. Thank you!

Will not respond to emails where bid to do job is completely ridiculous.

Sorry for anyone I've offended by calling the job easy. However, I do think it is easy for someone that has already done it. I do not think it is easy for a "first-timer" to do without instructions. Just trying to help someone out that would like to earn some extra cash.
