While the left demands everyone be inclusive, no matter how objectionable they find the ideas or actions of those they're forced to accept, the left itself is the most divisive force in America today. Their hatred is palpable, from lying about what actually happened to the hostility and violence they encourage to happen. Their need to micromanage is evident, their intrusion into our lives is evident, their need to suppress is evident.

Hypocrisy is all the libs have, it's the core of their philosophy. If we would only do as they say, not as they do, America would be the greatest nation on.
