Lead guitar player in his early 50s is looking at finding other guys with day jobs that have a passion for playing. What do I mean? Well, here it goes.....I am not a drunk, I am not a ward of modern chemistry, I have a day job and am not depending on my playing income to support me, I have my own equipment, i have a great attitude (no drama), and oh yes, I can play classic rock, blues, some country, southern rock and ???. I also can play my instrument as well. I would expect the same from anyone that would contact me. I am also not looking at playing out every weekend. Would love to hear from you guys 50+ and worst case we end up meeting and talking about music.....always a good day. So send me an email via the link and I'll get back to you. Look forward to hearing from you and have a great!
