Hi, I'm taking my first programming class. I just started learning java. I'm working full time and going to school so it's hard to find time to start learning it all. I'm interested in hiring someone that can solve my java programs for me. I want to hire someone that will solve unlimited amount of programs for me. They will help me get a good grade in my class. I don't really want this class to ruin my GPA. There is going to be a programming test so I want someone that can help me solve that the test within an hour. If your fast at programming please send me a message. I want to find someone that I can send the assignments too and they can solve the program really quick. If you can solve a program within an hour please respond to my ad. This is perfect job for a fast programmer who majored in Computer Science. Only respond if you are available to help me out at 9am on Tuesday and Thursdays on the dates below. I will pay you after I get a good grade in the class.
