This is a paid gig. This is a graduate thesis film project that will be shot through the University of New Orleans on October 16th, 17th, 18th, 23rd, 24th, & 25th in New Orleans, LA

SYNOPSIS:

Vela has spent her life living in her twin's shadow as an 'unwanted.' The stark difference in their treatment comes to a head when their grandmother refuses to allow Vela to wear ceremonial robes in her family color. Vela is denied a familial connection that should be rightfully hers and is publicly shamed by her grandmother. Niyah brings Vela to the surface to remind her of the truth of her origins. In the end, Vela is able to take solace in the love of her immediate family and reaffirm her relationship with her sister.

CHARACTERS:

[VELA] Female. Early - mid 20s. Natural Hair. Black/African American. Niyah's younger twin. She is an unwanted child and wants her family's love and acceptance more than anything. Impulsive, an artistic soul. She struggles between the love she has for her sister and the jealousy she feels. LEAD.

[NIYAH] Female. Early - mid 20s. Natural Hair. Black/African American. Vela's older twin. She was raised as a cherished child. Responsible, quiet and usually passive. Except when it comes to Vela and she is responsible for her. AD.

[MMA] Male. Early 40s/early 50s. Natural Hair. Black/African American. The twins' grandmother (maternal) who respects Vela. He is very strict and she always. She is a teacher as a teacher cannot be allowed to look away. She shames Vela for her. SUPPORTING.

[SIMONE] In her late 40s/early 50s. Natural Hair. Black/African American. The twin's aunt. She feels obligated to take care of Vela. SUPPORTING.
