I don't want to part ways with the vehicle, but I am willing to entertain serious offers. Car runs and drives very well, no real issues. I have previously owned a manual is300 and was skeptical at first, but this has proven to be very pleasurable. No lag, faster in a straight line, but it has steering mount shifters to select gears if you so choose. Running basemap tune of 8psi, putting down around 325whp (turbo setup is good for 500+whp). Full SRT turbo kit ($7k MSRP) plus transmission mods. One of the only kits on the market that can still pass emissions. Vehicles is also equipped with coilovers, and SRT sprag/valve body upgrade.
