Okay...this is going to be a very odd post, but here goes. I'm looking for a female model that knows how to pose with limited direction. Someone that is willing to work on a trade for print scenario. My idea involves a major landmark that I do not believe has been used for a model shoot. In other words, I need someone with a risk taking attitude and a fantastic look to accompany it. No, this is not some illegal location...hard to explain...so let's talk. Date has yet to be set, but I truly believe the images would be a great addition to your portfolio...could almost promise you won't have any like it. If interested, please respond with a link to some of your shots and a bit more about you. This may result in paying gigs down the road as well. This current offer is the trade for print because we may show up and still not be able to get it...but oh, if we do...it will be great :) I can provide a link to my website as.
