We took in a stray about a month ago, but we cannot keep her, due to my husband being on disability and not working. She is less than a year old, and looks like she will be about a medium-large size dog. She is very sweet and good with kids, although she does get a little too playful at times. She is ok with cats, she just likes to chase mine around. She is not spayed or up to date on shots. We have been working on house training, but she still has.
