New magazine for the Cleveland, Ohio area that is turning heads before we have even released our first print. The goal of this magazine is to provide a necessary breath of fresh air in Cleveland journalism. A youthful perspective, with zero filter. To report on music, art, style, and culture all through the city, without holding anything back. In 2015 Cleveland still needs that magazine, and we're gonna give it to you. One way or another.

Pressure will be a Cleveland magazine with no boundaries. If it needs to be said it'll be found behind our cover. Everything from interviews of local criminals, to local entrepreneurs. From which show you can't miss this month, to the easiest place to jump a train. All of this will come from Cleveland natives, because nobody's going to know how to write about this city better than the people who live in it. There's no topic we'll be afraid to cover and no question we'll be afraid to ask. Because there's no point in bullshit. We are starting off with a large core group with a wide range of skills, which will help us to deal with the many surprises no doubt in store for us. All of the same passion with a lot of knowledge is a winning combination to bring this magazine to life.

Pressure will be the best damn magazine in the city. Because we know this city, because we're from here. Because it will be Cleveland.

We are not looking for just anyone to be a writer but someone that fits this magazine to add to the group. This is a start up so funds are non existent but they will be once we get going. This will be big and this will have a lot of followers so saddle up and join the ride!

We want like minded folks that want to be part of something bigger.

Please let me know if you have any questions or interests to meet us.
