Sales Quality Research Group (SQG) is looking for people in your area to visit local banks and inquire about checking accounts and/or investment services.

You will not show ID or open any accounts. Your role is to "play the part" of a new potential customer.

You will be paid between $25-$100 per location depending on the scenario being conducted. There are NO out-of-pocket expenses associated with this work.

While we don't ask for experience, you must be responsible and reliable to work independently. You will also have to enter the reports online and they must be well-versed and detailed. If you are friendly, a good writer and have attention to detail, this could be a great way to make some extra money.
