The Rag Lit Mag (www.raglitmag.com) needs your literary guts and steel. Rather than the typical, drab literature all too common to the traditional world of lit mags, we search for engaging short stories that grab ahold and don't let go.

The Rag is an online magazine targeting the e-readers markets, exclusively (i.e we publish in Kindle, EPUB and PDF formats). This allows us to save money on materials and distribution, which allows us to remain one of the higher-paying independent magazines on the market. We publish one story per month and distribute it free, via our website and monthly newsletter. You can find our submission guidelines and submit your work here through Submittable (<https://raglitmag.submittable.com/submit>), and you can read The Rag for free before submitting by simply downloading the stories available on our website (www.raglitmag.com). We suggest anyone interested in submitting read The Rag first, so as to get a feel for the content we typically publish.
