About Me At the moment my boyfriend and I can't afford an apartment that allows dogs, so I have definitely been pining for some canine contact. We moved here a couple of years ago from Washington State and I had to leave behind my golden retriever, Bonnie, who was diagnosed with cancer two months after we moved. She lasted a year and a half but eventually the disease did take her. Mom called me on Skype and I got to say my goodbyes. My stepdad has two chihuahuas, Rufus and Quervo, both adorable, but not as adorable as my Bonnie =). I am extremely eager to care for any type of dog, of any size or breed. I am willing to do a wide variety of care including baths, brushing, teeth care, giving medicine, walking, playing, feeding, cleaning the yard, taking the dog to dog parks; whatever the dog needs, I'm your girl to give it. I am a college junior at UNO and a part time employee for a craft store, but as long as the dog is okay with me being gone for a normal business day neither my school activities nor my job hours would interfere with my dog sitting responsibilities. Why I love dog sitting I was raised with my older brother by just my mother until I was 9, when she married my stepfather. We moved from California to Washington State and that was the first time I got a dog. I was thrilled, because I loved our cat Tyger, but I REALLY wanted a dog. His name was Harley, and he was a beagle, and he was my delight. I loved to take him on walks, try to teach him tricks, let him sleep with me at night; it was very hard when he passed on. The vet suggested we get a second dog when Harley first got sick because it might brighten his spirits and give him more energy, and Mom let me pick out Bonnie, our golden retriever. My step dad was close to Harley's family, so my first clients were all beagles, Freckles and Cody, two of Harley's brothers. Imagine laying down while beagles crawl all over you, it's adorable. I hope one day to buy an acre or two of land, build a nice, little house with my husband and a couple of kids, and an entire pack of dogs! I want a corgi, beagle, golden retriever, pomeranian, black lab, pit bull, rottweiler, yorkie, st. bernard, dachshund, great dane, husky, newfoundland...The list goes on; and I'm perfectly alright with having two or more of the same breed, but I would love to be surrounded by animals for my entire life. My experience administering medication I am perfectly comfortable administering medicine in whatever ways the dog needs the medicine administered.

"Want 100% 5 star reviews from my customers I have 7 reviews on my RVs profile. And don't what the other RVers had to say??? "Regina was fantastic! We'll stay at our home again just as clean as we left it. Our dogs couldn't have been happier. Even the photos she sent along with us made me miss my babies that a little less. Will definitely be booking in the future!"

"I love her!!!!" "She said that being around me wouldn't make it worse with us, she was always the best." —Alina
