Azodyl probiotic for kidney disease--an amazing supplement for cats! (Bedminster, NJ)

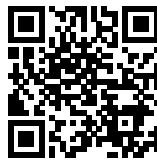

Recommended by the veterinarian!

No prescription is necessary for this probiotic for kidney disease!

My kitty boy had kidney disease for 4 years and 5 months. He was two weeks shy of 20 when he had to cross the Rainbow Bridge. In the end of June I purchased Azodyl, the probiotic that kept him well and alive, from a Veterinarian Supply Store. Its expiration date is June of 2016. It arrived cold in a polar box, and has been kept cold constantly since I received it. It comes in 90 capsule containers for cats--1 capsule per 5lbs. He took one in the AM one in the PM.

I have one full container of 90 capsules sealed (never opened) and one container of 59 capsules. I used a sub-container to take my daily supply from, so the 59 were only out of the refrigerator 3 times to count them out in capsules of 20 per sub-container for daily dosing.

I am selling them at a loss to me of $60 for the full unopened one and $30 for the one which has 2/3 left. I am not flush with money because my job was eliminated, but needed to keep my boy alive and healthy when I was able. I would like to recoup some of the cost for this supplement.
