Hello all I'm looking for someone who might work in health care that could help me out with something. I dont have insurance right now it won't start till January 1st. But I've been to two different hospitals and had ultrasounds done on my legs and there's no blood clots. But I'm having some issues with my legs and feet and like I said I don't have insurance so is anyone willing to help me out? I'm really worried about whats going
