This is awesome for artists, musicians and creative types that use social media a lot.

TSU.CO, A New Social Network That Pays You To Use It By Sharing Their Ad Revenue. Over 5 million users in several months since it's launch. Users are making hundreds, and some thousands, of dollars already.

It already has proved to work on Youtube which also shares its ad revenue with its users.

Tsu gives 90% of the ad revenue to the actual users, you and me, after all we are creating the content...right?

You just do exactly what you do on Facebook...but get paid as well.

You get accurate analytics to see how much you're making every day...just like Youtube.

You see those ads on facebook on the right side of every page you look at?
Advertisers pay FB to have those there...that's why Zuckerberg and all the people that work there at the top are billionaires and millionaires
They've got 100's of millions of people coming to FB to look at those ads every time you and everyone else share a post...but they don't share any of the advertising money with you.
They're making bank off you. Tsu gives YOU a bank.

One of the benefits of Tsu is that if you monetize videos on youtube and embed them on Tsu, you get money from 2 revenue streams at the same time

Why EVERY content creator should consider moving to tsū NOW!

1. Early joiners share a larger share of the future gains
2. Your copyright is fully controlled by you (unlike Facebook and other social media)
3. You earn royalties daily. The more compelling your content, the more you will earn. Tsū only keeps 10%
4. You can reserve your name now
5. You can drive traffic to your site or other destinations

And Tsu doesn't claim ownership of what you post like Facebook does.

When you reach a $100 in your bank they will send you a check or you can keep the money in your bank to pay for goods and services through TSU.

That's how Tsu plans to make the lion's share of their money, as a payment platform like paypal...the ad rev they are giving away.

It's a Totally Free site like Myspace or Facebook or Instagram...except you make money :)

Super easy, quick sign up.
