I have a highly trained Siberian Husky that I am no longer able to keep.

She has been a great service dog to me (registered through the US Service Dog Registry).

My health is getting worse and I have recently had to move into an apartment complex. She doesn't have room to run and play like she needs and isn't allowed outside if she's not on a leash.

She seems so depressed in our new home.

I am trying to find somebody that will love her the way we have and allow her to be a member of your family.

I am in tears about doing this but I have to think of her happiness before mine, just as I do my kids.

She is up to date on shots, she is spayed, almost complete with heart worm treatment as she was found positive. She is highly trained, but has separation anxiety and hates to be left alone for long hours.

I have ALL of her paperwork for when her shots are due, when her flea/tick/heart worm meds are due. I have her USSD registry paperwork, as well as her microchip paperwork.

She will come with all of her supplies, her kennel, bed, backpack with her name on it, harness, leash, food, food bowls, her clothes, toys, treats....etc.

She does great with kids, I have a 3 year old that uses her as a pillow, sofa, jungle gym.....all the time, and she loves it.

She's very well behaved listens to many commands.

I'm not just getting rid of her for a convenience thing, I want her to find a family, like us that will love her and have her be somewhere she is HAPPY!!! You will need to have a fenced yard!!!

If interested please feel free to email or text ANYTIME. Pictures upon request. Substantial Rehoming fee will apply .....when you see all the paperwork you will understand why
