Plan is to leave Vegas on Thursday morning January 14 then be back in Toronto by late Saturday the 16th.
Route back across lower states with stops in Texas & Illinois for overnights.

I will be doing all driving myself and plan up to 13 hours at a time. Have done 16 straight before and can handle this easily.

Car is a reliable and comfortable hybrid, leather seats, heat & a/c all work well. Nice stereo so bring CDs you like. I AM a smoker and the car IS a smoking vehicle. Does not matter if you don't smoke so long as you are ok with my doing so.

Looking for just 1 person to share the ride, Looking to share costs such as fuel and motels along way as well.
I've priced this out at about $300 per person if we split the hotels on route, tolls and fuel.

Yes, this is still months away but gives you time to plan/take off work possible this way.

I'm an adventurous fun seeking guy in his late 30s BTW.

Any questions or interest in this, feel free to reply and we'll.
