Photography is at the center of all your marketing. It's not just documenting that there is a house for sale. You want people to say, "What a house," and be motivated enough to take action. Listings of homes with photos taken by professionals have about 61% more views than listings without. Use compelling shots, do the photos make you want to visit the home? Do they look like they are pulled from a home and garden magazine? Those are the kind of pictures that will appeal to prospective buyers. Give final approval, ask to see the photos before they are posted online, and compare them to homes that are similar to yours. If they didn't turn out well, ask for a reshoot with another photographer. e-mail us at & ask for a free copy of our Staging Tips Checklist, & For tips on how to make your home look "Picture Perfect" <http://youtu.be/KeM63-S6uR0>
