Are you a business owner?

Maybe you run the business on your own, or maybe you are a husband and wife team... Perhaps you work out of your home, preferring the lifestyle and freedom it offers (or at least promises at some point).

Do you run a service based business that is already somewhat profitable and poised for growth?

But are you also finding it difficult to manage and organize all the information needed to handle that growth? Are you already using technology tools to the best of your knowledge yet still feel like you're not getting the work done that you need?

Well what if you were able to get regular assistance, coaching and training on how to work and set up your technology to be as effective as possible? In exchange for room and board, I can provide you with exactly this type of assistance... And right from the comfort of your own home.

This is not mere training on how to use various app features. I will spend some time sitting with you to learn how you perform your work tasks, and what you'd like to be able to do better. As your coach, I can then help you record and break down your goals and also develop an integrated task, calendar and email management system to help you more efficiently work towards achieving them. Using a combination of technology and productivity/time management principles, we'll put systems in place that will better position you to get the work done needed to both maintain and grow your business the way you desire.
