The TreadClimber TC20 is Bowflex's premium incline trainer. The unique exercise machine is considered a hybrid stair climber-treadmill. Users can choose between climbing, walking on an incline, and using the machine as an elliptical trainer. TreadClimbers help users to burn calories and tone their bodies more efficiently than they could with a standard treadmill. The first Bowflex TreadClimber, the TC 1000, was introduced in 2003. The TC 20 is the most advanced machine in the TreadClimber lineup. What We Like Efficiency: Using an incline trainer such as the TC 20, an exerciser can achieve great results in less time than they would with a traditional treadmill. Space-saving: The TC 20 takes up less floor space than a traditional treadmill, so it's ideal for smaller living quarters. It also has wheels for easier transport. Programs: The TreadClimber TC20 includes standard workouts with 15 intensity levels, plus outstanding "Goal Oriented" technology that serves as a virtual fitness coach. As users reach exercise goals, new features are unlocked as rewards and motivators. For instance, an exerciser can earn trophies and virtually visit landmarks from around North America. Motor: Users can reach a top speed of 4.5 mph with the TC 5500. Comfort: Bowflex TreadClimbers are designed to provide low-impact workouts. The TC 20 offers the most comfort of all with extra-long foot treadles. Our Verdict Bowflex is a reputable company, and the TreadClimber TC20 is an efficient alternative to traditional treadmills. The TC 20 is an improvement over BowFlex's earlier TreadClimbers: it's sturdier, has a more attractive display with more program options, and lets users reach a higher top.
