The title says it. I'm a passionate artist and gamer and I get sucked into games with depth and beauty. Simply put the gameplay was complex and very fun and the graphics still hold up today.

I need a programmer for either the pc or that can make an app. Pc would be preferred only because I really would like this to be a pretty in depth system. I can do the art and 3d models or flash or whatever we decide is the best way to animate.

What we need is to get a simple start- character designs/ a stage or two/ and some of the basic fighting system down and working. To put out a Kickstarter and demo. The best way to get someone hooked is to get a demo and some videos out there to get em wanting more!

Then once we have it funded we can hire the helping hands that we need to finish this bad boy!

I really hope to make something that will be talked about for years to come. A serious classic that people can't live without!

Pay wouldn't happen till we get funded. Then both of us would obviously be compensated for the time we had invested plus we would both share any profits from sales from the finished product.

I know this doesn't sound ideal... but I know if I can find someone out there that is as passionate about this as I am I know we can make something amazing!!
