I came up with a possible billion dollar idea that could help transform our educational system. I need someone who is not a greedy bastard that can write code. I have the ideas, vision, and selling tactics. I just need someone who can execute my vision. I promise not to be Steve Jobs to your Steve Wozniak. That kinda b.s. is so wrong. I'd like for both of us to make some good money but without greed. I have a big heart and would be very philanthropic after we made a certain amount of money. Anyway, if you are out there, and interested, please write back explaining your experience and your goals.

I feel my idea is so good, I will most likely hire a lawyer to draw up a non-disclosure agreement for you to sign if we ever met and I explained it to you. Pay will be determined on sales.

It really has the potential to be huge. Hope to hear back from someone.
