That circuit breaker panel in your house or garage looks pretty innocent doesn't it?

Just because a breaker hasn't tripped doesn't mean that its not potentially overloaded.

Circuit breakers are a mechanical item and they can fail. Loose connections, faulty appliances, or defective circuit breakers can put your family and your stuff at risk.

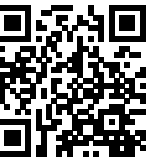

Be safe this year and have a thermal scan performed on your circuit breaker panel. For a fee of $50.00. I can come to your location (within Dakota county) and perform a high resolution thermal imaging scan of your circuit breaker/distribution panel(s) and also do a current (amperage) reading on any circuits that read hot or warm.

Are you interested in your windows and doors? Appliances? Furnace or water heater venting? I can provide images of these things as well.

What you get:

I will provide the images to you of your circuit breaker panel by email and provide a summary report. If you have sub-panels off the main panel I will image those as well for no additional charge.

Other things you may consider imaging as well...
