I am launching a new online and quarterly print media outlet. (Think Huff Post meets TMZ with a dash of the OWN Network) I am looking for contributing writers, journalists, editors and Youtubers in all subjects of real quality content. I am looking for refreshing voices that are clear, consistent and easy to read. Voices that are entertaining yet informative and of course keep our readers and subscribers engaged. The pay is generally $20 for every 500 words. Youtube videos would be discussed and negotiated on a per diem basis. We typically don't want to see our articles to be longer then 1000 words except for on rare occasions when the story warrants it. Your work will be published on our site with your name and headshot as a contributing editor, journalist affiliate. (whatever terms we all work out.) We will be publishing about 50 articles and or videos a day 365 days a year, so there is plenty of work to go around. We are launching with an anticipation of 40,000 views a day and to expand rapidly after that. A selection of the articles will be promoted on our social media sites as well. There are opportunities for cross promotions and links to your websites and blogs as well. If you are interested please send your information, portfolio (links to published work) your area of focus, your pitch for us and how often you'd like to contribute. After a review of you work if we feel your voice jives with our vision we will reach out to work with you. You would be paid quickly (same day) that work is published via PayPal or Net 30 if you prefer check payments. The areas of focus are listed below. Please note that we are interested in submission on news from around the world and locally from multiple cities listed below especially in lifestyle submissions. Thank you for your time and we hope to work with you soon. Please when you submit your work place your specific area of focus for your submission in the subject line
