

Missing Oil Painting Impressionist Portrait

Location Delaware https://www.genclassifieds.com/x-723806-z

We are in search for a woman Oil Painting portrait of dimensions 50 cmts by 70 cmts (1.64 ft by 2.3 ft) on canvas of post impressionist style.

The Painting became missing during a move out on Baltimore Avenue in between 43th St and 44th St in the area of Clark Park, West Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. It was last saw about mid May of 2015 inside the house in that address.

This artwork was taken away from a box of a closet where it was kept along months by somebody during the move from the rear bedroom of the second floor of house.

There is the suspicion that it is being carried right now by somebody that look like a young man in his late twenties, caucasian, thin, more than 6.3 ft of height, large aquiline nose and blond long hair.

Please let us know if you found it, there is a reward for who ever return it or give information that help its recovering.

The Painting is copyrighted, registered and also its loss was denounced to police in a way that its trade is illegal without the artist approval, so the chances to get money in the market from it are very limited and would represent a crime.

