I am a guy in my late 20's, owner of a house, and my female friend is renting from me in the basement. We are both professionals and too busy to do some simple things around the house, so we're looking for someone that can come by for a few hours and help with some of the work.

We would be most comfortable with a female. This would be a great opportunity to earn a few bucks for the holidays, maybe for a single mom or a college student home for the holidays. We are happy to pay prevailing rates for this type of work.

Since the house is full of our valuable belongings, we just ask that you send a picture and include some general details about yourself. Also, please include your hourly rate.

Email for more.
