What a wonderfully unique piece this is and in excellent condition for it's 140 years. All the carvings are nearly perfect, our pics really don't do them any justice. And, the front drops open to reveal a nice semi-hidden storage space. The lock was long gone so we installed a spring hinge that's out of sight. So, all you need to a lightly tap or push on the front apron and it drops down. This console table would look ripping just about anywhere in any room of the house. While those of you with a keen eye might have spied that the legs are not original, however, they're far from being new. The back splash is removable so it makes moving / freighting safe and easy. Plus, like everything we sell it's in super clean ready to use condition.
